Saskatchewan Campaigners Have Respite

REGINA, June 5.—(CP)—Politicians with mud on their boots caught their breath during the week-end after the first three days of vigorous campaigning in the Saskatchewan election.

The province goes to the polls on June 15, and campaigners coming to this capital city from country points reported rain almost everywhere. From Winnipeg to Regina the prairie is as green as an English field. Pools of water glitter in the ditches in the dry days of the 30s.

RESERVES REPLENISHED

Those touring the province said that after a winter in which little rain fell, moisture reserves had been replenished in areas by timely rains after seeding. At the summer meetings there was talk among farmers that the bumper crop of wheat and other grains will be reaped if moisture conditions continue good.

Reservations were received by 14 candidates on June 1, with nominations in one outlying constituency—Cambridge—deferred until June 10. The elections will be held on June 15.

Three members to represent Saskatchewan persons in the armed forces outside of the province will be elected on June 15.

Carnival Spirit Prevails in Rome

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ROME, June 5.—(AP)—A Rome, shining brightly in sparkling sunlight and spread almost entirely from the ravages of war, today gave its Army troops a welcome which turned the eternal city into a near carnival.

The city is virtually intact. The Germans, last of whom shined from the capital last night, had been driven out of the city by the Allied forces, limited their demolitions to a few installations of military or religious importance.

The dome of St. Peter's dominates the city beyond the rays of sunlight and the fabled smile on columns of troops ascending the steps of the Vatican city begins.

By JAMES DYER

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP)—All Canadians must be given opportunity for gainful employment and security against sickness, interrupted employment and impoverished old age, Pension Minister Mackenzie said in an address prepared for delivery today at the annual convention of the Dominion command of the Canadian Legion.

After reviewing rehabilitation legislation planned and enacted by the Dominion government, the minister said training and security were the keystones of the program.

"I think it is Canada's duty to develop the most advanced and far-reaching rehabilitation program yet enacted by any of the United States."

Dispatches From Rome

By JAMES DYER

OTTAWA, June 5.—(CP)—The British United Press dispatches from Rome broke out the first indications that the city had been virtually unscathed from its period of German occupation. They said electric circuits were shorted out by the city's current still was available, that the water system was in good condition and the gas was expected to be available tonight.

We had many thousands of German soldiers, taken 20,000 prisoners, wrecked great stores of German material," Lt. Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, commander-in-chief of the Fifth Army, announced. "I would like to give credit to the air force, which has done magnificent work. I also would like to pay tribute to the men and women of the Fifth Army who made the supreme sacrifice so we could carry on."

Thousands of Partisans Join in Fighting Germans As Italian Capital Falls

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

ROME, June 5.—(AP)—Mussolini's balcony hung empty in the moonlight as 5th Army soldiers in Italian file encircled the former dictator's office at the Palazzo Venezia last night and thousands of partisan citizens of Rome fanned the fire of liberation.

Heir-Conditioning

Behind a screen of partisan volunteers who were hammer and sickle armbands, waved red flags and brandished old firearms, American and Canadian forces drove to the Tiber river through full German resistance in the streets—resistance that was real despite the German pretence that Rome was an open city.

Some Italian soldiers of Rome died in the fight for freedom, cigarettes between their lips and cheers in their throats. Some were lying across the German machine-guns they had tried to seize hand-to-hand.

EXPECTED SOONER

"Why were you so long coming?" We expected you four months ago," said some of the partisans. They shrieked curses at Blinking German prisoners, cradled at the sight of a dying American soldier. With shrill cries they warned of hidden anti-tank and machine-gun nests.

Mothers held up their children to be kissed by the grim, bearded soldiers, in sight of a diving German machine gun crew from whose chest gushed a stream of blood.

By military standards the battle for Rome was merely a heavy skirmish with the German army, but it was a victory for the partisans as hard on the senses as getting the lead with the eyes with brass.

UPROOT SNIPERS

As the final push sent General Sir Bernard Montgomery's troops through Centocelli's alleyways and green fields, their machine-guns drove scores of German snipers from cover. Italian partisans rode the German tanks, preceded their lead machine-guns, preceded their lead machine-guns.

Within a few seconds after the first German tank was destroyed, the gates of Porta Maggiore, one of the arches of Rome, the avenue of the city, were open to the Germans. The German tanks were driven into the city, the German tanks were driven into the city.

WRECK NAZI CAR

As we proceeded down the Via Nazionale in front of the Bank of Italy—one block from the Roman Forum—where a German heavy machine-gun suddenly began firing. When the shooting stopped we saw the wrecked scout car ahead with two Germans dead and another dying with blood gushing from his chest.

FOUR JAP TARGETS

Japan's main industrial centers are fairly closely concentrated, centering in four areas: (1) Tokyo-Yokohama; (2) Nagoya; (3) Osaka-Kobe; and (4) the northern port of Kyushu. Japan has made great efforts to decentralize war industries, distributing some among home workers in households; dispersing others into Manchuria and the Chinese coast at Tientsin, Tientsin, Shanghai and other places.

As Allied forces continue their inexorable hop-skip-and-jump progress in the Pacific, Jap press and radio express worry of Tojo and Co. over possible Allied attacks on their homeland. One reason for Nips' jitters can be seen in map above, which shows how enemy's main production centers are concentrated in four areas, all within a short bombing run.

6 Persons Held In 'Peg Slaying'

WINNIPEG, June 5.—(CP)—Police announced last night they are holding six persons—five men and a woman—in connection with the shotgun slaying last Friday of 48-year-old S. W. Coughlin, senior accountant, during the annual meeting of the North End Canadian Bank of Commerce here.

John Bracken Not Likely to Contest East Constituency

By B. T. RICHARDSON
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, June 5.—Nomination of R. Boucher, M.P., the present member, as Progressive-Conservative candidate in Carleton county at a convention in Ottawa today, is taken as an indication John Bracken will not contest an early election in the Carleton county seat. Mr. Bracken recently bought a farm in Carleton county, a few miles outside Ottawa, for a time speculation centered on the prospect he would run in Carleton, a constituency which has been Conservative continuously since Confederation.

Rumors in the lobbies of parliament that Bracken might be a member of the Progressive-Conservative list, Brandon, Neepawa, and Marquette have been mentioned, all now represented by Liberals, and Portage La Prairie, now represented by Harry Reid, Liberal Progressive.

Four Years Ago New Spirit Born in Britain After Miracle of Dunkerque

Four years ago the "miracle that was Dunkerque" was commemorated in Britain. The British people generally ignored it at the time, and unaware of the threat to their own future. In the United States people believed Britain's life was nearing its end. But, in fact, the miracle was only the beginning of the new spirit born in Britain. The situation was that the British people were not aware of the threat to their own future. The situation was that the British people were not aware of the threat to their own future.

Killed Overseas

By HAROLD FAIR
New York, June 5.—(CP)—Four years ago yesterday a new spirit emerged in Britain from the flaming cradle that was Dunkerque. It was a spirit epitomized by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that "capital and labor have cast aside their interests, rights and customs and put them into the common stock."

That was the day Mr. Churchill told a solemn House of Commons the little ships of Britain "carried out of the jaws of death and shame, to their land and to the tasks which lie immediately ahead."

But in retrospect there was little indication that the British people were to stand alone against Hitler. The British people were to stand alone against Hitler.

Led by a Canadian in the Royal Air Force, a Beaufighter squadron in the Middle East has been taking part in the air campaign against enemy attempts to keep the Aegean islands which they occupy supplied with men, munitions and food.

The C.O. is Wing Commander P. H. Woodruff, D.F.C., of Edmonton, who went to the United Kingdom to enlist in the R.A.F. on one of these little boats which took so many young Canadians overseas in the late '30s.

In the squadron in F.O. Ed. Taylor of Victoria, who on one day knocked two JU 88s out of a formation of three Badoers. Taylor also has a couple of enemy lorries, shot up and destroyed, to his credit. Most of the Canadians have a share in the destruction of a couple or two. The C.O. has destroyed a couple since coming to the squadron. P.O. Ed. Edwards of Toronto took part in an operation in which an enemy merchant vessel was damaged and two lives were lost.

Other Canadians are F.O. G. Tiffin, London, Ont.; P.O. Robert Charles, Montreal; Ted MacIntosh, Chippewa, Ont.; and P.O. Allan Vance, Spanish, Ont., near Sudbury, flies with another Beaufighter squadron.

Pravda States Rome Capture Great Victory

By HARRISON SALISBURY
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
Copyright, 1944, by British United Press

Pravda today hailed the fall of Rome as a "great victory" which should lead to the swift expulsion of the Germans from all Italy.

Pravda's military commentator, Maj-Gen. Galakshinsky, asserted that the entire Nazi front in Italy had been smashed by the swift advance of the 5th and 8th armies.

"One should expect in the nearest future a serious deterioration of the German army in Italy," he said. "By that we mean not only an Allied advance along the coast north of Rome but the possibility of new Allied landings in the deep rear of the Germans."

"The loss of Rome should lead to the loss of all Italy by the German army," he said.

Galakshinsky praised Gen. Sir Harold R. L. Alexander's campaign and declared that the city's capture is a "promising symbol of the deep rear of the Germans."

NEW YORK, June 5.—Puts and pitches in wartime golf. Fred Corcoran, tournament manager of the P.G.A., assures that the scarcity of good golf balls during the war is lifting the level of play for the average linkman.

With bills of pre-war vintage costing $25 a dozen, the club swingers are being mighty careful not to lose them, sacrificing water-holes and the rough, avoiding distance for accuracy.

Approximately 1,000,000 persons played on the nation's 5,000 golf courses on Memorial Day, outdrawing both major league baseball and racing.

Between now and Sept. 4, he will be shooting at first prize totaling more than $20,000, with corresponding money awards for other windup positions in the tourneys.

Approximately $210,000 will be offered for the tourneys of 1944, the greatest award in the game's history. Biggest award will be made to the winner of the $100,000 tournament, Aug. 24-27, where prize total $30,000 in cash or $42,500 in war bonds. Never before has so much money been disbursed in any

Name Candidate Pembina Riding At Convention

George MacLachlan, veteran Independent member of the Alberta Legislature, has been nominated to contest the Pembina riding in the next provincial general election, it was learned here Monday. The nomination was by acclamation.

Mr. MacLachlan was first elected to the Legislature in 1921, when the U.F.A. government was elected. He has been a member continuously since that time, with the exception of one term, between 1933 and 1934, when he was defeated in the Pembina riding by Dr. H. K. Brown of the Social Credit party.

In 1940, Mr. MacLachlan ran as an Independent party candidate in Pembina, and was returned. He has been party whip since that time.

J. H. Walker, Independent party candidate, was named speaker at the convention. He discussed the Independent party platform, and issues connected with the political situation in Alberta.

EXECUTIVE TO MEET

According to Edmonton sources Monday, the Independent party executive will meet in the near future to talk over plans and policy. No date or time for the party has been set as yet.

One of the subjects of discussion will be possible co-operation in the next election between Liberal and Conservative supporters, as was the case in the 1930 election campaign.

At a meeting in April, the Edmonton Provincial Liberal Association turned the matter of co-operation with the Independent Citizens' Association over to incoming officers for study and report. To date, there has been no meeting between the Liberals and Independents.

Wedding in Italy Goes on Despite Heavy Enemy Fire

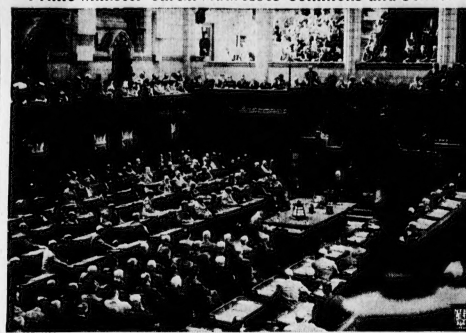

WITH THE 5TH ARMY ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF ROME, June 5.—(CP)—Allied troops in a village in Rome's suburbs heard the bells of the village church peal out yesterday, while the Allies were under heavy German shelling from the vicinity of the city.

It was a welcome for the liberating troops.

It was a wedding. The bride and groom and the wedding procession marched down the village street, oblivious to bullets and shrapnel.

As the bridegroom passed a group of Allied soldiers, he shouted "viva l'America!"

Airman Is "Lucky" Escape Wounding

Attacking military objectives on the continent is no mean task for airmen of the medium bombers of the 2nd Tactical Air Force Group. The targets are well protected by flak batteries over which the bombers must run.

A Mitchell medium bomber returned from a sortie over northern France with 240 holes in the fuselage. Two Canadian airmen were part of her crew. Warrant Officer George Wilkinson, 24-year-old navigator of Moose Jaw and Warrant Officer John Hunt, 23-year-old air gunner of 10328 18 street, Edmonton.

"I should imagine I'm a record," said Wilkinson, a former school teacher at Swift Current, Sask. "We were attacking a target in northern France, and as we went in on our bombing run in formation, the Jerry gunners really let go on us. A couple of bursts came up right underneath our tail. Surprisingly enough no one was hurt. After we had bombed—and successfully too—the Jerry gunners had another crack at us and they put a few holes in our skin."

"I really think I ought to have got wounded," said John Hunt, with a grin. "But I was lucky. We've had plenty of flak before, but we've never returned with so many holes."

Before the Magistrate

Pleading guilty before Magistrate A. J. Miller K.C. to permitting a minor to consume liquor, Mrs. Ian Jones, Edmonton, on Monday morning, was fined $25 or 35 days.

Harold Mattson, pleading guilty to theft of three wrenches and two pairs of pliers from a parked auto on 180 street, early Sunday morning, said he didn't know why he did it. His movements, the court was informed, had been watched by a patrol officer. Mattson acknowledged previous convictions for having stolen property in his possession, intoxication, vagrancy and begging, and was sentenced to three months with hard labor.

Pleading guilty to illegal possession of liquor, Ernest Polreis, Edmonton, was assessed $25 or 35 days. George Chamschuk, on a similar charge, was fined $20 or 30 days.

William Oulton, found guilty of assault, was fined $35 and costs or seven days. The accused forced open the door of the victim's home a few minutes past midnight on May 14, and after allegedly assaulting the complainant and pushing her husband and furniture out of the way, left the place "looking like a cyclone had hit it," the magistrate was told.

Florence Chard, charged under the communicable venereal diseases act, had her case adjourned after entering a plea of not guilty.

Hon. S. E. Low Back In City Next Week

Hon. Solomon E. Low, provincial treasurer and minister of education, and leader of the Social Credit Association of Canada, is expected back in Edmonton at the beginning of next week. It was learned Monday. The minister has been convalescing at Victoria, B.C., after suffering an attack of bronchopneumonia.

Mr. Low is scheduled to address meetings at Victoria and Vancouver before returning here. One in Victoria is scheduled to be held Thursday evening, and it is to be followed by one at Vancouver later in the week.

Air Cadet Rally Held in Manitoba

BRANDON, Man., June 5.—(CP)—Six hundred and fifty air cadets from 16 Manitoba towns competed here Saturday in the first big air cadet rally held in the west. Air Commodore K. M. Guthrie of Winnipeg said that some of the boys had walked or biked seven miles to reach points of transportation to Brandon. The rally will be an annual affair.

A few enemy demolitions were reported, but Reynolds Packard, British Union Press war correspondent, said in a dispatch from the city that Rome appeared about 90 per cent intact after the battle. The city was wrecked by Allied bombs.

Allied fighters and fighter-bombers were seen ahead of the advancing ground forces and rained a steady hail of bullets and bombs on retreating German tanks, trucks and other vehicles closing roads almost bumper to bumper as far north as Lake Bolsena, 50 miles above Rome. At least 500 tanks and other vehicles were destroyed or damaged yesterday alone.

The increasing destruction of the enemy's transport, his lack of adequate reserves and the overwhelming numerical and armored superiority of the Allies raised hopes here that Alexander's army may be able to overtake and destroy a considerable portion of the retreating forces before they reach their final fortified line, hinged on Florence and stretching across the narrowest part of the upper Italian Peninsula.

BOMB ROADS, BRIDGES
Allied planes also bombed highways and bridges north of Rome in a further effort to stall the enemy retreat. Pilots reported German dead were visible along the roadside beside their wrecked and burning vehicles.

Some Allied units bypassed Rome from the east in their race to cut off the German withdrawal, while British forces to the south were nearing the mouth of the Tiber river.

It was reported that the R.A.F. Saturday night severed the railway bridge across the Tiber west of Rome which if true would further increase the enemy's plight.

All the Colli Laziali—the Alban hills—between the Via Cassilia and the Apennine Way southeast of Rome were under Allied control, an official spokesman said, with enemy survivors fleeing toward the Tiber estuary.

Northeast of the Via Cassilia, the Fifth Army occupied Palestrina and Cave, five and three miles respectively above Valmontone.

triumph the long campaign which began with Montgomery's great victory at El Alamein and carried the Allies through Tunisia, Sicily and along the mountainous Italian boot.

The Allied spearhead swept straight through the city in force to overtake and annihilate the beaten and fleeing enemy divisions which had drawn back from the pincers closing on them from the pincer British Eighth Army smashed the formidable German defenses, which had previously defied capture, and forced the enemy to abandon their tenaciously held coastal sector.

How many Germans were able to retreat northward before the Fifth Army, united with the former beachhead forces, finally severed the Via Cassilia at Valmontone Thursday was still conjectural, but it was certain many thousands had fallen into Allied hands.

Three divisions were Marshal Kesselring succeeded in withdrawing today were fleeing in disorder toward a new defensive line possibly 150 miles to the north of Rome.

W. W. Clark, commander of the Fifth Army, echoing Alexander's order, called on his troops to "pursue and annihilate the enemy."

SOME CROSS TIE
The Fifth Army occupied Rome on the night of June 4-5, a communiqué by Alexander said. Leading elements had passed through the city and are now in an attempt to stem the enemy.

Adolf Hitler was reported by the official German news agency to have ordered German troops to withdraw northwest of Rome to avoid drawing the Atlantic pact into the battle area. The clandestine radio Atlantic said that German troops were withdrawing from southern France and two others from northern France in an attempt to stem the Allied tide.

Despite the Nazi declaration of Rome as an open city, German tanks, machine-guns and snipers were reported to have fired upon the innocent capital yesterday and last night in an attempt to delay the Allied advance. The city was hit by a series of bombs which were fired more than 15 miles in the final stages of the battle.

T.B. Hospital Plans on Way For East Check

New plans for certain details for Alberta's proposed $500,000 tuberculosis sanatorium have been completed and sent to Dominion government officials at Ottawa, Hon. Dr. W. C. Cross, minister of health, said here Monday.

It was announced last month that the plan details were requested by Ottawa, at discussions held between Dr. Cross and priority officers from the Dominion capital. It was said the province's request for necessary construction priorities for the sanatorium would receive favorable consideration in the plans being received in the east.

On his return from Ottawa, Dr. Cross said it was hoped to have basement of the new structure completed this year, so that the hospital itself could be built in 1945.

Present plans call for a 300-bed structure, to be built on the University of Alberta campus. Earlier requests for priority had been refused on the grounds of structural steel shortage.

Fighting French Welcome Members

The monthly meeting of the Fighting French, Edmonton Branch, was held Saturday evening at the Sturtevant Club Library.

The president, E. Michael, greeted two new members, Mr. and Mrs. J. LeFebvre, who had managed to escape from France under the Germans' noses. Mr. LeFebvre told the members some eye-witness accounts of German atrocities in France. When in Cherbourg, he had seen German soldiers walking down one of the main streets, machine-gunning children as they walked along. Speaking of the bombings in the Pas-de-Calais area, Mr. LeFebvre said that often, bombs went off in the middle of the street, causing great hardship on the people. Most of them however, accepted these bombings as a necessary price to driving out the hated "Boche".

It was announced that the campaign to collect funds for the MAISON SORCULO, home of French sailors in Italy, was well under way. It was expected that the other Fighting French committees would also contribute to the campaign. A letter from the MAISON SORCULO, home of French sailors in Italy, was well under way. DOROTHY DIX SAYS—

Girl in Teens Will
To Refuse to Marry

Boy, Cool and Hurt Now, Will Think 17-Year-Old
Girl for Saving Him from Folly of a
Hurried Wedding Ceremony

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 17 engaged to a boy of 18. I love him very much and hope some day to marry him, but I certainly do not intend to do so until we are out of school and he is in a position to support a family.

Last week we went out with two other couples of our own age and something was said about getting married. They all agreed to except me. I tried to talk them out of the crazy idea, but it did no good and the two other couples got married in a little town near our home. Now they are trying to make me believe they were very happy and glad they did it, but I believe deep down inside they are sorry they didn't listen to me.

But my trouble is that since that night Bill has treated me differently. He has seemed to distrust me. I don't like to be used to do. Do you think I did right by not marrying him then? I did only what I thought best for both of us.

JANE.
Answer: You did exactly right, Jane. You showed yourself not only level-headed girl, but a courageous one, and the time will come when Bill will thank you on his knees for saving him from the folly of going into a marriage for which he was not prepared.

Just at a moment his vanity may be a little hurt by your refusing to marry him when the other two girls were marrying their friends. He may think that it indicated that you were not as much in love as they were, but you were your sweethearts. Boys of that age are very touchy, and you know they are very anxious to be thought mature, old enough to marry, etc. But will you get over this and respect you all the more for not being easily misled by the crowd you knew to be wrong and foolish. As for your friends, by their behavior to much about how happy they are, they are singing a song from their courage in not putting up a bluff, and you may be perfectly sure that they are already regretting their hasty marriage.

As for the girls proving their pride and joy in their marriage? Have they told their parents? And have their parents set out in front of their own? Or are they keeping a secret and living in fear of their marriage being found out? Are the boys able to support their wives? Believe me dear, the marriages that have a chance of being happy are those which are entered into with the consent and approval of the parents and the good wishes of the community.

SAYS WRONG THING

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am going around with six very nice girls with whom I want to be friends, but I seem to always be saying or doing something that gets me in wrong with them. I do not intentionally offend them. How can I keep from hurting their feelings?

JINKS.
Answer: Some people seem to be brusk by nature and to lack a certain sense that warns them about how to keep from stepping on other people's toes. They blurt out home truths when they should keep silent. They make uncalculated remarks, and even when they try to be complimentary they offend instead of please. As for the example: Have you heard a woman tell a wife with a phandering husband that she saw him having dinner with a pretty girl; or that the new baby's mother is proudly showing him the Jones' hooded nose; or ask a fat woman if she isn't putting on weight?

A good way to be sure you will always say the right thing is to mentally try your speech out on yourself. If it makes you feel good, you can pass it on.

PROFESSIONS

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a senior in high school, 17 years of age, and am worrying about my future. My family is moderately well off, but I want to go to college. I have a good family background and a fair education. The WAGS give you the choice of 15 different occupations, any one of which would secure you a living salary while you are being taught your chosen work and if you have the ability to become an expert you can command a fine salary.

Minute Make-Ups

To make a smooth, quick job use a lipstick brush. Use the brush with your favorite lipstick. Brush on a line around the lips, then fill in with the lipstick. This gives them a rich full finish. Hollywood stars and New York models always use a lipstick brush.

The Jack of diamonds was lost and dimmy's last club died. He did not trump, declarer could lead the jack of clubs and let it ride. West did not care if West did cover, declarer would not. West dummy, return a trump to the queen, then lead eight of clubs. West could win only a trump trick and the ace of hearts.

West elected to make an ace opening. East won with the ace of diamonds and shifted to the ten of clubs. Declarer was afraid that this was a singleton. Declarer dealt with the ace. West played the nine of clubs—watch how important that card became later on. Declarer now took two rounds of spades, discovered that East had a singleton of spades, and took inventory.

He has a loser in all four suits but he refused to give up. He led the king of diamonds, and to his amazement West queen led. He

Your Baby

And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

There are so many reasons why babies, who have stopped being fed at night, want and demand the bottle or breast-feeding again.

Almost always it is due to inadequate daytime feeding. The mother gets stuck at a certain level of diet and does not make steady increases in it. The formula itself may be too weak. It is incapable of giving a mother thinks she can feed a 14 pound baby on the formula advised when the baby weighed ten pounds.

The amount of solid food may be too small. Some mothers feed their babies enormous portions, others keep on feeding spoonfuls to a baby needing tablespoonsful.

The baby sleeps too long in the daytime and therefore is wakeful at night, when he should be asleep. Or, the mother, by waking the baby at night has established the habit of waking, which the baby continues to do despite his daytime diet.

Mrs. H. S. cannot see any reason at all for her baby's refusal of solid foods and his bad habit of waking two or three times at night to be fed.

"He is 10 months old and weighs 20 pounds," she writes. "He takes about one tablespoon of cereal and three tablespoons of soup or spinach or string beans or custard. Also, he has 10 drops of cod liver oil and four bottles of milk with corn-syrup and water."

"He is in the fresh air all day. He has two teeth and is beginning to walk. He is sweet and friendly. It is quiet and peaceful where we live but when he wakes once or twice in the night he won't go to sleep without the bottle."

Suppose you try eliminating the corn syrup. It is time to do that, anyway. It should put up his appetite for the solid foods.

Also, feed only three times a day. Instead of four bottles of milk, give him only three and substitute for that fourth bottle some milk foods, such as custard, junket, milk gelatin, cereal milk puddings, cottage cheese, etc. I feel sure his appetite will improve.

It was interesting to discover that a blanket rolled at the side of baby's crib would hold the covers in place and keep him asleep at night.

Mrs. C. J. M. Thank you for wanting to help a reader, but I have to admit I think your baby's diet is not too large and generous as that of most babies of his age.

He is not a large feeding leech from the department.

Our leaflet, "Feeding from One to Two Years," is a new leaflet and it may be had by sending your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose with your request a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

At a recent dinner this dessert excited the guests. Good suggestion for a Father's Day treat on June 18.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM

One pint to 1 quart strawberries, 1 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg yolk, 2 cups scalded milk, 1 cup 1 1/2 pint light cream.

Wash, hull, mash strawberries; add sugar. Set aside until needed. Mix sugar, salt and egg yolk. Add the milk gradually, stirring as you add. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until custard coats the spoon. Cook. Add cream.

Freeze in old-fashioned ice cream freezer to a mush, then add strawberries. Continue to freeze until mixture is frozen solid. Makes about 2 quarts.

MACE SAUCE

(Serves 6)

One-quarter cup sugar, 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon powdered mace, 1 teaspoon cornstarch, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 egg yolk, 1 pint scalded milk. Mix together sugar, mace, cornstarch, salt. Add egg yolk and mix well. Add hot milk gradually, stirring as you add. Cook over hot water, stirring to prevent lumping, until custard coats spoon. Continue to cook, stirring occasionally, for another five minutes to assure thorough cooking of the cornstarch. Chill and serve over ice cream.

Makes 2 cups sauce.

Or turn this into a delightful dessert. Flaming Salad. Simply mix the egg whites until stiff. Fold into the sauce. Chill and serve.

McCoy Health Service

If you have a backache you are most interested in what you may do to relieve the pain. The best general rule is to apply heat, as this assists in lessening congestion, relaxes the parts, and also helps to wash away waste, by bringing a better blood supply to the affected region. There are many ways in which heat may be applied, one good way of doing this is to place the patient under a deep-heating light, which gives off a deep penetrating heat. The patient should relax under the light for a half-hour or longer, and should take the treatment at least once a day. The diathermy is also a good treatment to use. The name diathermy means "heat through" and while the patient is taking the treatment he feels a warmth deep down inside the tissues which is very gratifying and comforting. The diathermy treatment should be taken several times daily if the pain is severe, and at least once a day, if the pain is mild. It is often a good therapy to use both the deep heating light and the diathermy.

If you are able to find a doctor giving these treatments, I would strongly urge you to take them, in case you do not locate a doctor near you who has this type of equipment, then I would advise you to use hot applications at home. These are made by wringing a heavy towel out of the water, as hot as can be borne by the skin. Lay the hot towel, folded up, over the aching back and change every two minutes to a fresh hot towel. It is surprising how quickly the patient feels after the hot applications. The all over hot tub bath may also be used with beneficial results. The use of the hot water.
